

MRS. PIETZEL'S STORY

She Tells It on the Witness Stand.

TOUCHING AND PATHETIC SCENE.

Every One in the Courtroom More or Less Affected Except the Prisoner—Trying Ordeal Which the Bereaved Woman Went Through—Her Daughter Corroborates Her in Her Testimony.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—The third day of the Holmes trial opened promptly at 10 o'clock. Holmes came in with the half smile that he has worn every morning, and saluted the court officers cheerfully. Among the spectators were several well known society women.

The first witness was Susan Hurley, who keeps a boardinghouse at 1024 Race street. She said Pietzel boarded at her house for a week in Aug. 1894.

Mrs. Alice Pierce of 1804 Callowhill street identified Pietzel's picture as that of the man who lived at 1317. She had known him through his buying cigars at her store. On cross-examination she said Pietzel was not a man of cheerful disposition.

C. La Forrest Perry, assistant to the president of the Fidelity Mutual Life association, the company which Holmes swindled out of $10,000, identified the insurance policy for $10,000 taken out Nov. 9, 1893, by Pietzel, and the receipt of Jephtha D. Howe, the St. Louis attorney, acknowledging the payment of the money. The policy was paid Sept. 24, 1894, 22 days after Pietzel's death.

Perry told of the visit of Holmes, Howe and Alice Pietzel to the office of the insurance company prior to the visit to potter's field to exhume the body. On that occasion Howe and Holmes pretended not to be acquainted, and acted toward each other as ordinary strangers do who have just been introduced.

Perry told of the letter of Hedspeith, the Missouri train robber, revealing the swindle upon the company and of the tracing and arrest of Holmes and Mrs. Pietzel in Boston for swindling the company. Holmes at the time of his arrest made a verbal confession of the swindle, and the next day made the confession in writing. He also told of Holmes' story of Pietzel's being in South America with the boy Howard and the two Pietzel girls' being in London with Minnie Williams.

William E. Geary, an inspector for the insurance company, testified that he took Hedspeith's statement in the St. Louis penitentiary.

R. M. Hanscomb, deputy superintendent of police in Boston, testified that he ordered Holmes' arrest upon receipt of a telegram from Fort Worth, Tex., charging him with stealing a horse. The Texas warrant was only used to hold Holmes until a warrant could arrive from Philadelphia. When Holmes was arrested he said to witness that he did not want to go to Fort Worth, but that he wanted to go to Philadelphia, where he had defrauded an insurance company. This statement was made voluntarily by Holmes.

Francis X. Quinn, an employee of the Fidelity company, identified Holmes' signature to a statement prepared by Quinn as notary public. This statement was read, and is, in substance, as follows:

While in jail at St. Louis, Holmes had met Hedspeith, who said they could get out of jail for $400; Holmes to get $300, other parties $100. Holmes told him of a scheme to defraud an insurance company, but that he needed a lawyer. Hedspeith referred him to Howe, and after several visits to him, Howe confirmed Hedspeith's statement about the money needed. They discussed this scheme and Howe asked where they would get a corpse. Holmes replied that that would be all right, as he had plenty of experience in that line. The details were carried out and Holmes made arrangements in New York on Aug. 9 to get a body, but the one obtained lacked the wart and other marks peculiar to Pietzel.

Holmes meanwhile came to Philadelphia and saw Pietzel. While here he got word from New York that a body was ready. He went there, got it and brought it back here to Pietzel. Holmes and his wife then left town. He went to St. Louis, where he found Pietzel's wife and children much excited. Holmes had several interviews with McDonald and Howe and the latter wanted to abandon the insurance scheme. Holmes said he would take his chances because the stake was big enough. Howe demanded $3,000 of the money if it went through and Holmes claimed that this was outrageous, as he had taken all the chances and done all the "dirty work." When Howe threatened exposure, Holmes smiled and told him he was not afraid as he had every incriminating word Howe had uttered. "I have had a photograph in the bureau drawer," he exclaimed coolly.

The money was finally obtained and Howe kept $2,500 of it, Mrs. Pietzel being given the balance. This concluded the statement.

A tall, slender woman, dressed in shabby black, her face pale and worn, took the witness stand. It was Mrs. Pietzel. In answer to a long series of questions from Mr. Graham she said: "My name is Carrie A. Pietzel and Benjamin F. Pietzel was my husband. In July, 1894, we lived in St. Louis. My husband had taken a policy in the Fidelity company for $10,000. On July 29 he left for Philadelphia in connection with the matter. I know the prisoner. Before July 1894, I had seen him several times with my husband, when he came to our house in St. Louis and when we lived on Madison avenue, Chicago. I corresponded with my husband while he was in Philadelphia. The letters were addressed to 1316 Callowhill street. He answered them and in one spoke of settling in Philadelphia. He said he was in the patent business in this city. I knew he was living under the name of Perry."

"Did you have any talk with Holmes about the insurance case before it was carried out?"

"Once he spoke to me about it when he came back from the south, and asked me if Ben had told me about it. I said yes, and I did not want anything to do with it. He said Ben would be home from the south soon; that he was sick down there."

Continuing, Mrs. Pietzel said: "I knew Howe through Holmes. I gave power of attorney to collect the money. I don't know who prepared it; but Howe brought it to be signed. I saw in a paper that a man named Perry had been killed by an explosion, but Holmes told me my husband was all right."

"In whose care did Alice leave St. Louis?"

"In Howe's. She went at Holmes' suggestion to Philadelphia to identify the body. I was sick. I asked Howe to take care of Alice, and Holmes said he would. Minnie Williams, Holmes' cousin, he said, would take care of her, and if I grew very sick he would send Benny to take care of me. I next saw Holmes' son Sept. 27, when he came to our house and said he had brought Alice back to Cincinnati. He said he would take Howard and Nellie to Alice, as she would not be alone, and had made arrangements for Alice to meet them in Indianapolis. I took Nellie and Howard to the depot. Howe was there and said the insurance money had been paid. Holmes said to me: 'You had better give her some money,' and Howe gave me $5. I bade the children goodbye, and they got on the car."

"On Oct. 22, Holmes came to the house in St. Louis, and we went to Howe's office. Holmes was there, and Howe said the scheme was a fraud and he washed his hands of it. They wanted me to sign a paper in regard to Howe's fee, and after being assured that I would not be implicated in the affair, I did so. Holmes then went under the name of Howard. He demanded $300 or $400 of me, and I gave it. He wanted to go to some bank to pay off the note due on the Fort Worth property. I got the $5,000 and he took it. We went around to the bank. The money was in $100 bills, all but one old note, $1,000 bill. He took the money and went to a side window. Then he came back and brought the note, saying it was paid. He told me to take care to show it to Ben when I saw him."

"How much did you get in all of this insurance money?"

"I received $500. That was all I ever got."

"After this money transaction, what became of Holmes?"

"He took another $100 for the children, who, he said, would need some in Indianapolis. He went away and some time afterward sent me a letter from Detroit to come on there to see my husband."

"Did you see your husband?"

"No. He then sent me to visit my parents at Galva, Ills."

In answer to further questions, Mrs. Pietzel went on: "When I went to Detroit with Dossa and the baby, he met us and took us to Geese's European hotel. I said I expected to hear from the children and he said they would write in a few days. Holmes registered for me as Mrs. Adams. We remained in Detroit until Oct. 18."

"Did he explain why your husband was not there?"

"He said he had looked all over the town and could not find a vacant house where it would be convenient for me to see Ben. On the morning of the 18th he said we had better go to Toronto. He thought Dossa should join the other children in Indianapolis, where they were in charge of a widow, he said. According to his story, he had bought some property there for his wife's mother, but as she was not ready to move into it, I could live there free of rent. I asked him the name of the widow my children were with, and he said: 'It's a peculiar name. I can't think of it now.' We went to Toronto, where he also registered me as Mrs. Adams. My husband, he said, was in Montreal, waiting for word to come on."

"One day he brought me a letter from Nellie. It was in cipher, and he read it to me thus: 'Dear Mamma—We are well, and going to school, but Howard won't mind Alice. He will get dirty. We have plenty to eat, and the woman is real kind to us.'"

"We were in Toronto from Oct. 18 to Oct. 25. Holmes did not stop at the same house with us. I don't know where his different stopping places were. On the afternoon of the 25th, he came to the hotel, and said he wanted to hurry up and go to Prescott, Canada, and there cross over to Ogdensburg, N. Y. We went to Prescott and stayed at the National hotel until Nov. 1."

"From there we went to Burlington, Vt. Holmes had here rented a furnished house on Minooka avenue. He told me that I had worn out the name of Adams, and to go by the name of Cook. He claimed to be sending diamond dies to Ben in Montreal. The second week we were at Burlington, I said I was not going to stand it any longer. I wanted to see Ben, and I told Holmes I believed he was lying to me. He denied this. I said: 'I do not hear from my children, and you said I would get the rent from the Fort Worth property, and I have not a scratch to show.' I said I would go to the children in Indianapolis, but he said, 'no, not until you see Ben.' He said he was going to take Ben to the states, and get him to sign papers about the Fort Worth property and sell it."

"For two or three days I did not see him, and then he came and told me he had taken the children to Toronto. He said he had put heavy coats on them so they would not catch cold, and that they were perfectly happy. He said he would have to go to Montreal, as Ben had been drinking and was not taking care of the diamond dies. He said Ben was sick, and asked me what I would do if he should die. He said: 'I have one grave marked for him.' All my letters were given to Holmes to mail. He said he sent them to Chicago, where Pat Quinlan, the janitor of the castle, took care to get them to my husband."

A number of letters written by the witness and given to Holmes to mail were identified by her. None had been mailed. She was shown two others, written by Alice and Nellie. That from Alice was marked by childish affection for her absent mother, and bore a rude drawing of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' which the little one had been reading. At the sight of this, the mother's heart overflowed and she wept bitterly. The woman who accompanied her and Dossa arose, and walking to the witness stand, gave the bereaved woman a teaspoonful of medicine. There was no one in the crowded courtroom who did not appreciate the pathos of this scene, but the only change it made in Holmes' expression was a malicious grin on his thin lips.

"Have you ever seen your husband since he left St. Louis for Philadelphia?"

"I have never seen him since July 29, 1894, nor heard from him since Aug. 29, when I got the last letter in his own handwriting," she answered tearfully.

"That was in Philadelphia."

"Have you seen or heard from Alice, Nellie or Howard since this man got possession of them?"

"I have not heard from them."

"Have you seen them since?"

Sobbing bitterly, the woman answered: "I saw Alice and Nellie lying side by side in the morgue at Toronto. I never saw Howard, except what once belonged to him, in Indianapolis, in the corner's office."

This ended the examination in chief. In answer to questions from Mr. Rotan, the witness said she was married to Pietzel in Galva, Ills., in 1873. She did not know where he and Holmes first met. She thought it was in 1889. She first met Holmes in the restaurant at Sixty-third and Wallace streets, Chicago, at the "Castle," when she was with her husband there, in 1893. She did not see much of Holmes until this insurance matter came up.

A long line of questions were put to Mrs. Pietzel, many of which were ruled out on the ground of irrelevancy. At 5:30 a recess was taken, and up to that time her testimony had not been shaken.

At 7:15 Mrs. Pietzel's trying ordeal was resumed, after she had taken a liberal dose of medicine from the trained nurse who accompanied her and her daughter, Dossa. The cross-examination was continued until 8:25, but developed nothing to controvert her evidence in chief.

District Attorney Graham then showed her the crayon portrait of Pietzel, and she said: "Yes; that is a good picture of my husband as he left home."

This concluded Mrs. Pietzel's testimony, and at 8:30 she gave way for her daughter, Jeanette—"Dossa." Her testimony was largely corroborative of that given by her mother concerning the departure of the children and the subsequent travels of Dossa and her mother under Holmes' guidance to the various cities named.

BANK LOOTED.

Safe Blown Open With Dynamite and $12,000 Stolen.

MCGREGOR, Tex., Oct. 31.—The First National bank of McGregor was looted yesterday morning about 2:30 o'clock. Entrance was effected through the door. The thieves opened the outer door by the combination. To the inner steel chest dynamite was applied, completely wrecking the safe. The booty secured amounted to between $10,000 and $12,000 in paper and gold. All the silver was untouched and mutilated coins were scattered all over the floor.

The bank is fully insured in the Fidelity and Casualty company and will suffer no loss. It is fully solvent and will continue business.

Al Reid, who recently escaped from the Huntsville penitentiary, is supposed to be with the gang. A. J. Seville is president and Charles Smith, cashier.

AN INSANE CONVICT.

Tragedy Narrowly Averted at the Ohio Penitentiary.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 31.—James L. Jones, a big prisoner serving a three-years' sentence for stabbing to kill, suddenly became insane yesterday, walked directly from the cigar shop, where he is employed, to the deputy warden's office. Presenting himself before Deputy Warden Dawson, he drew a long, murderous-looking knife and coolly inquired: "Deputy, did you ever see anybody die?"

Deputy Dawson saw that the man was insane and that his life was in danger. A trusty in the office caught the situation and attracted the madman's attention, and Deputy Dawson sprang upon him and pinioned his arms behind him. He was soon disarmed, but it took three men to hold him and take him to the prison asylum.

Miners' Strike.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Oct. 31.—Four hundred miners struck in Cabel & Company's mines here because the screen used did not allow pay for nut coal. The operators say they will not accede to the demands of the miners, and the men are equally determined not to return unless the screen is changed. Indications are that other mines may be affected in this section.

PLEADING FOR THE DEAD.

Last Scenes in the Now Famous Durant Murder Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—District Attorney Barnes yesterday appeared as the high central figure in the last scene of the trial of Theodore Durant, and while the spectators in the crowded courtroom craned their necks to catch every word of the speaker, he delivered what is considered in many respects one of the strongest arguments ever made to a California jury.

Aside from being logical and convincing in his discussion of the testimony, he made two or three dramatic by-plays that put a severe test to the iron nerves of the prisoner. Of these scenes, the most impressive took place in the early part of his argument when he spoke of how counsel for the defense had invoked the spirit of Blanche Lamont, and voiced her thought by saying: "Let him go free; he harmed me not." While looking intently at the frame bearing Miss Lamont's dress, which stood near the jury box, and telling how, through the long days of the trial he had seen the young school girl clothed in all her innocence and purity, Mr. Barnes reached the climax of the scene. Turning upon Durant, who was seated only three feet away, the district attorney, with clenched fists and in a voice of thunder, exclaimed:

"I see her now. There she stands behind him at this very moment. Not praying for vengeance for her deep and remediless wrongs; not for the law's retribution upon her murderer, but with uplifted hands and streaming eyes, praying that God will not put it into your hearts, by the mockery of a verdict not guilty, to set free this monster to prey upon other souls, pollute with vile hands the unsunned snow of other children and defy anew that God of justice, whose ministers you are."

Durant was the least affected person in the courtroom, while Mrs. Noble, the dead girl's aunt, wept, and everybody else was thrilled with the impressiveness of the scene. Durant sitting stolid and indifferent. As the district attorney's last words were uttered, the prisoner whispered something in the ear of his mother, who sat near him, and smiled as if pleased at the wit of his own remark.

Mr. Barnes had not finished his argument when court adjourned.

AFFAIRS IN BRITISH GUIANA.

The State Department at Washington Advised of Recent Occurrences.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The state department has been furnished further details of the status of affairs in British Guiana concerning the boundary agitation. It covers the press publications from Demarara up to Oct. 16. In pursuance of the policy of the British foreign office, Captain Marshall and Inspector Coyle of the British colonial constabulary, or militia, have been dispatched to inspect the outpost of Uman, where the conflict with Venezuelans occurred. The semi-official announcement is made at Demarara that the departure of the officers and their party is in connection with the recent dispatches from Minister Chamberlain.

The Maxim-Nordenfolt Gun and Ammunition company are in communication with the authorities at Demarara as a result of an order already placed with the company, and the prospects of further orders.

The public and press criticisms of Minister Chamberlain for his recent dispatches continue. The Miners' Gazette points out that Mr. Chamberlain's solicitude for the gold industry of British Guiana is due to misinformation given him by interested and unreliable persons. Mr. Chamberlain's statement that the northwestern territory should receive most attention is controverted, and it is alleged to be due to a desire of certain persons to secure a British port of entry in the northwest section. Mr. Chamberlain's plan of interesting British capitalists in concessions is ridiculed on the ground that these concessions are already made and that nothing more can be granted.

The Demarara Chronicle fully reviews the report that Secretary Olney has written an urgent letter to Great Britain supporting the Monroe doctrine as applicable to the Venezuelan question. The paper retorts that the Monroe doctrine has no more relevancy to the present contention than it would have to a claim by Venezuela over the entire territory of British Guiana.

The same paper characterizes Mr. Chamberlain's plans as ridiculous, and that he does not comprehend the isolation of Uman.

Up to the 16th, when the mail closed, notification of Lord Salisbury's ultimatum to Venezuela had not reached Demarara, but strong pressure was being exerted on the home government for a move of this kind.

Be El You Double EE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A special to The Herald from Havana says: The correspondent here of an English newspaper has just received orders from his paper to embark at once for Venezuela in anticipation of the demonstration that Great Britain is expected to make at Lagunayra to enforce the demands of her ultimatum.

THREE HOURS' FIGHT

Spanish Soldiers Again Meet the Insurgents.

THE LATTER FINALLY ROUTED.

The Insurgents Sustained a Heavy Loss While the Government Forces Only Had One Killed and Two Wounded The Revolutionary Party Has a Minister in the United States.

HAVANA, Oct. 31.—The column of troops commanded by Major Mijares, consisting of Seventh infantry of the Barcelona battalion, 25 guerrilla cavalry and the Alfonso III, has encountered and dispersed the band of insurgents led by Francisco Perez, and numbering about 500 well-armed men. The engagement took place at Galeon, Cienega Zapata, near the Habana river and lasted three hours. The enemy, although outnumbering the government troops, did not venture from the strong positions the former occupied, and the troops were exposed in the open field to the insurgent fire.

The loss of the enemy, however, was heavy, as the insurgents were fired upon effectively at 500 yards with the Mauser rifles in the hands of the troops. Twelve dead insurgents were found upon the field, including the insurgent standard bearer, a brother of Tuerio; but the greater number of insurgents killed and their wounded were carried away. Fifty riderless and blood-stained horses were captured loose upon the field after the fight, and many bloody tracks about the scene of the conflict showed how severe had been the fire of the Spanish soldiers. On the government side only one soldier was killed and two guides were wounded. The troops, after receiving supplies of provisions and ammunition, will continue in pursuit of the fleeing insurgents.

The insurgent band commanded by Regino Alfonso, it is announced, has plundered and burned a store at Lacarolina, near Cardenas.

Several plantations in the province of Matanzas have suspended preparations for grinding sugar cane, owing to the attitude of the insurgents.

Another band of insurgents has been raised at the plantation of La Luz near Vieja Berneja, province of Matanzas. The leaders, Aurelie Hevia, a lawyer of this city; Manuel Tome and Eduardo Garcia, manager of the plantation. The band, which numbers about 200 men, was recently attacked by 15 civil guards who frightened the horses of the insurgents, and caused a runaway panic among them. They returned later, however, and the guards then charged the enemy with bayonets, putting the latter to flight with one man killed and one wounded.

CHANCE FOR RECOGNITION.

Cuban Revolutionary Party Appoints a Minister to the United States.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Thomas Estrada Palma, delegate of the Cuban revolutionary party, received yesterday advice that the Cuban assembly (or deputies) have appointed him minister plenipotentiary. The election took place in Jimaguayu, and was unanimous. The office of minister plenipotentiary makes Senor Palma the head of the entire Cuban party, with power to act on its behalf as he sees fit. Senor Palma said that the most important duty he will have to perform as minister is to ask the government of the United States for recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents. This he will not do until he has consulted other members of the party.

"We must," said Senor Palma, "rely to a great extent on the sympathy of the American people. This sympathy I am confident will be backed by the government of this country."

Spain Resorting to Extreme Measures.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Information reaching those in Washington prominently identified with the Cuban movement, is that on Sept. 30 four prominent citizens of Santiago de Cuba, who had been identified with the Autonomist club, were sent without trial to the Spanish penal colony of Ceuta, on the coast of Morocco, Africa. The facts in the case come from authentic sources in Cuba. They were arrested by the military authorities on suspicion of being friendly to the insurgent cause, and the Spanish commander directed their transportation to the Morocco colony. An appeal was made on Sept. 29 to Captain General Campos on the ground that the prisoners had not been given a trial, and that there was no proof against them; but it was rejected by Campos.

REVOLT AGAINST THE SULTAN.

Twenty-Six Thousand Armenians Said to Be in Open Rebellion.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31.—The most alarming news yet received from Armenia has just been made public here. It is stated that the situation is so grave that in the Zeitunt mountains and in that district there are 26,000 Armenians in open revolt against the rule of the sultan.

The Turkish government, in view of the gravity of this outbreak, has decided to call out the army reserves.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—United States Minister Terrell has cabled to the state department a practical confirmation of the press reports of the recent Armenian massacres. He has given formal warning to the porte, by direction of Secretary Olney, that Turkey will be held responsible for the safety and security of all American missionaries in that country.

Rev. E. G. Patrick.

Owensboro Baptist: "The First Baptist Church at Marion, Ala., has extended a call to brother Patrick to become their pastor. His services here as pastor of the First Church, during the absence of brother Hale, have been attended by overflowing congregations, and his ability, both as a preacher and pastor, is recognized by all. In the sick room and death chamber he is a tender, sympathetic comforter. We have found him a true yoke-fellow, a genial brother, a high-toned Christian gentleman. He has made hosts of friends who will regret separation from him; and their prayers and good wishes will follow him to his new field. The brethren at Marion ask that the church here release him from his engagement for balance of the time, that he may at once come and take charge there, and the church here, though regretting the necessity, has granted the request. He will leave us after the first Sunday in November."

THE LATE HENRY WORTHINGTON.

Some of the Heirs Will Contest His Will—A Big Estate Involved. The Bequests.

[Cincinnati Enquirer, October 30th.]

The will of the late Henry Worthington, the Covington millionaire, was offered for probate yesterday in the County Court at Covington, and before the document had been half read it was apparent that a bitter controversy would be opened up between the heirs.

The will was dated February 12, 1895, and witnessed by E. Lee and George W. Greene. Testator appoints George G. Hamilton, his son-in-law, and J. Carroll Hamilton as executors, without bond.

The document is an exhaustive one. His daughter, Lillie W. Stuart, receives no present benefit. Testator says that she received from him during life $99,262.47. She is given permission to do as she pleases with whatever remains of this money.

Hack S. Worthington, the testator's son, receives $10,000 and 7,000 acres of land, the site of an abandoned coal mine ten miles from Chattanooga.

Testator requests that his friend, Captain James Whipp, be supported during life and buried at death by his executors.

The residue of his estate he leaves in trust, without bond, for his daughters, Mattie Worthington and Anna W. Hamilton.

A codicil is attached to the will, made necessary by the demise of the testator's daughter, Anna. In it he directs the payment of $10,000 to his granddaughter, Kearns Worthington, the interest to be paid annually and the principal to be attained her majority. Should she die before becoming of age and not leave issue this bequest is to be void.

Roberta Hamilton is made beneficiary of the proportion allotted to her deceased mother. Should she die before attaining her majority three fourths of the estate are to go to her father, George G. Hamilton, and the remaining fourth to J. Carroll Hamilton.

The codicil also revokes the clause in the will which, in the event of the death of Mattie Worthington, left one-half of her estate to Messrs. George and Carroll Hamilton.

Lettie Ware, for attention to Mattie Worthington, is to receive $25 per month, and $5,000 twelve months after the latter's death. The remainder of Mattie's estate to be disposed of as follows: To Hack S. Worthington, one-fifth, to his grandson, H. W. Stuart, son of Lillie Stuart, one-fifth; to his nephew, Mat Worthington, of Mason County, one-fifth, and the remaining one-fifth to be disposed of by Mattie as she may deem best.

Mr. H. S. Worthington was seen by an Enquirer reporter and made the following statement as to the provisions of his father's will:

Since the advent of the Hamiltons into the family my father has permitted his entire business to be largely managed and controlled by his son-in-law, George. I did not deem George competent to manage business interests so complex and varied as were those of my father at the time, hence I entered objections to the policy that was pursued. This aggravated my father and incensed him against me. His estate at the time of said advent was as large as it had ever been, and has since continuously declined till it is not now more than half what it then was. I refused to participate in the management of his business on these, in my opinion, disastrous lines, which incensed my father still more, recognizing as he continuously did that time was vindicating my policy. We became considerably estranged regarding these and other matters, till finally I stated to him that if he would devise his entire estate to his three daughters (my sisters), equally, I would make no contest whatever.

Fortune has favored me moderately in the past few years; hence I deemed myself reasonably independent of the caprices of my father. I frequently offered, however, to return and aid him in his business affairs if he would discontinue the policy that was being pursued, and which, if persisted in for a few years more at the same rate of loss, would bankrupt his estate.

He is now dead. Had he bequeathed his property equally to his daughters (my sisters), as I had previously requested, I would not under any circumstances contest his will. I have never received $1 by bequest from my father, and have been entirely self-sustaining since I was sixteen years old, aiding, until the advent of the Hamiltons, in a manner far more profitable to him than to myself, all his business adventures.

I now propose to join my sister Lillie in a contest of the will, after first having set aside to her all the property devised to me under it, and should the will be broken I will give to my sister Lillie my entire interest in the estate.

I do this in order that she, the daughter of my father and the mother of six little children, may not suffer the injustice of being practically robbed of her birthright for the benefit of those in whose veins flow not one drop of the blood of my father and mother.

I attribute the unpaternal conduct of my father—against Lillie—more oppressive and less justified than against myself—to weakness, chagrin and under influence, which is in many parts of the testament painfully manifest.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at J. James Wood's drug store.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A DANGEROUS BLAZE.

White, Judd & Co.'s Furniture Store Has a Narrow Escape From Flames at Midnight.

The alarm of fire shortly after 12 o'clock last night was caused by a dangerous blaze in the rear of White, Judd & Co.'s furniture store on West Second street. The flames were in some outbuildings in the center of court house square.

A number of lots fronting on the four streets extend back to the point where the fire started, and the supposition is that the blaze originated from some hot ashes dumped last evening against a fence.

The flames spread from the fence to several small outbuildings, and only the timely discovery of the fire and the prompt work of the department saved the furniture store, which is one of the finest business houses in Maysville.

The fire reached the repair shop and room in rear of the store proper. This was packed full of very inflammable material. Fortunately the firm have their store fitted up with hose for just such emergencies, and Mr. Lee Hauke and others from the second floor windows did efficient work in fighting the fire and keeping it out of the main building.

White, Judd & Co. place their damage from fire and water at about $1,000, which is fully covered by insurance.

GENERAL HARDIN SERIOUSLY ILL.

His Physicians Have Ordered Him to Cancel All Engagements to Speak.

A special from Bowling Green says that General P. Wat Hardin, Democratic candidate for Governor, was taken dangerously ill while on his way to that city yesterday morning.

The doctors have advised him to cancel all engagements to speak.

General Hardin has been engaged constantly for several weeks in the campaign, making speeches almost every day, and it is not strange that he is now seriously ill. When he was here last week a gentleman remarked that Hardin appeared tired out by his constant work and speech making.

A few days rest will no doubt bring him around all right.

THE GOODING DIVORCE SUIT.

Defendant Denies All His Wife's Charges and Asks That the Case be Dismissed.

The answer of Hon. A. P. Gooding to his wife's petition for divorce and alimony has been filed in the Kenton Circuit Court at Covington. He denies all her charges and asks that her petition be dismissed. Following is his answer in full:

KENTON CIRCUIT COURT.
Mattie Gooding, Plaintiff.
vs. Addison P. Gooding, Defendant.

1. Defendant Addison P. Gooding for answer to the petition of plaintiff Mattie Gooding and pleading first to the jurisdiction of this court herein, denies that at the time plaintiff's petition was filed she usually resided in Kenton County, Ky. Plaintiff and defendant were married in March, 1884, and ever since then up to Saturday, September 28th, 1895, only two days before this suit was brought, she resided with defendant on his farm near Mayslick and in Mason County, Ky. On said date she voluntarily left her residence in Mason County and abandoned the home of defendant where she had resided continuously for more than eleven years, and instituted this suit on October 1st, 1895, her petition having been sworn to the day before, September 30th.

Wherefore defendant says that this court has no jurisdiction of this action, and he prays that same be dismissed.

2. Not waiving his objection to the jurisdiction of the court as set up and claimed above, defendant for answer to paragraph 1 of plaintiff's petition, denies that for more than six months prior to the filing of said petition or for any portion of said period defendant has behaved toward plaintiff in a manner that was either cruel or inhuman and he denies that he behaved toward her in such a manner as to indicate a settled aversion, or any aversion, upon his part to her or as to permanently destroy either her peace or her happiness.

3. Not waiving his above set up objection to the jurisdiction of the court herein, defendant for answer to paragraph 2 of plaintiff's petition denies that he has made such cruel attempt or any attempt at injury of plaintiff as indicates an outrageous temper in him. He denies that he has attempted to injure plaintiff at all. He denies that he has made such alleged attempts as show that plaintiff is in constant danger or in any danger of suffering great bodily harm, or any bodily harm at all, or of losing her life at his hands by her remaining with him. He denies that on the day of September, 1895, or at any other time he made any attempt to shoot plaintiff with a pistol. He denies that the interference of other persons prevented him from killing plaintiff.

Wherefore defendant prays that plaintiff's petition for divorce be dismissed.

4. For answer to plaintiff's claim for alimony herein and for the custody of their daughter, Effie Lillian, defendant denies that he is not a proper person to have the care and custody of said child. He denies that, at the time this suit was filed, he had ever failed or refused to make provisions for the support and maintenance of plaintiff and their said child. He denies that he is possessed of an estate worth over $100,000 or anything near that amount. His farm in Mason County does not contain 500 acres as alleged, but only 450 acres, and it is not worth $125 per acre as alleged, but only about $80 per acre. He owns no other land. The personal property that he owns is not of great value and he is largely in debt; and is not worth more than $25,000. He denies that unless restrained by this court, he will fraudulently sell or convey or otherwise dispose of his property or any of it, or that he will do so in order to defeat the rights of either plaintiff or their child; and he denies that he has ever declared his purpose to leave this state, or that he has ever had any such purpose. He has not had any notion of selling any portion of his property except such personal property as farmers are accustomed to sell in the usual course of their business and some hogheads of tobacco he had shipped to Cincinnati to be sold, before plaintiff abandoned him.

Defendant prays that the custody of his said child be awarded to him, and that plaintiff's claim for alimony and an injunction be not granted, and that her petition be dismissed. He prays for all proper relief.

E. L. WORTHINGTON,

THE Chesapeake and Ohio still continues to show the effects of the improvement in business and wise management. The earnings for the month of September were $831,510.36, an increase of $42,205.96. THE EARTH QUAKED.

A Violent Shock Felt in Maysville at an Early Hour This Morning

Not since the earthquake that wrought terrible havoc some years ago at Charleston has such a shock been felt in this section as the one early this morning.

At ten minutes past five o'clock, or thereabouts, people were suddenly startled by a swaying of their residences and a violent rattling of windows. The shock was so severe that it aroused many people from their slumbers.

The shock lasted for nearly a minute, the vibrations, according to one gentleman, being from east to west.

At one home in the Fifth ward the cook had been awakened a few minutes before, and was dressing. When the house began shaking and the windows rattling members of the family first thought the cook had accidentally caught fire and was dashing about the room frantically trying to put out the flames. When it was learned that this was not the case, the next thought was that a violent windstorm had suddenly struck the house. But there was no wind blowing, and the true cause of the disturbance was then discovered.

At the St. Charles Hotel, some parties who expected to leave on the early C. and O. train were in the office securing tickets and they were so badly scared that they rushed out on the street.

At other places in the city people were so badly frightened that they jumped out of bed.

The shock was very severe at Cincinnati.

FITZSIMMONS' ARREST

It Was Made by Governor Clarke's Officers.

THE FIGHT IS THUS PREVENTED.

All the Parties Connected With the Proposed Fight Will Be Put Under a Heavy Peace Bond—The President of the Hot Springs Athletic Club Says the Fight Will Yet Take Place.

TEXARKANA, Tex., Oct. 31.—Sheriff Dillard and deputies of Miller county, who left Texarkana on the Iron Mountain cannon ball at 8:30 o'clock, succeeded in bagging the pugilistic game they were after. Fitzsimmons and his trainer were arrested by them and taken off their train at Fulton. A special train was telegraphed for to bring the officers and pugilists back to this city, and at 5 o'clock a train left here for that purpose. They arrived here about 7:15 o'clock, and the sheriff with his deputies, with Fitzsimmons and Julian, under arrest, left Texarkana at 7:35 p. m. last night via the Cotton Belt railway for Little Rock. They took this route to avoid any trouble that might arise at Malvern, if the Iron Mountain route was used.

The Associated Press correspondent interrogated Fitzsimmons and Julian while they were here. Both said they were ready for the fight, but could not say when or where it would take place, as they were under arrest. Both denounced Corbett and the Florida Athletic club for doing everything in their power to prevent and stave off the fight to a later day. They declared Corbett was not in condition now, and hence tried to put it off. Fitzsimmons said he was in fine trim, and felt confident of easily knocking Corbett out.

Proceedings at Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 31.—When Sheriff Dillard and Fitzsimmons arrives here the fighter and Julian will be taken before Chancellor Martin to answer the warrants and will probably be put under peace bonds. Corbett and Brady are expected from Hot Springs this afternoon on an similar errand. Information came to the governor last night that the reason Corbett is hiding at Hot Springs is that he wishes to be there so that Fitzsimmons can't say he was not on hand on the appointed day. He will come out and be brought here this afternoon.

At Hot Springs.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Julian, Frank White, Ernest Roebler and Fitzsimmons' lion came through unmolested, arriving here at 8:35 p. m., and registered at the Arlington. A party of citizens from Hot Springs will be on hand when Fitzsimmons and Sheriff Hout and Deputy Cooper arrive at Little Rock who will go on the bonds of the prisoner. President Babcock of the Hot Springs Athletic club said: "The fight will occur sometime between Nov. 1 and Nov. 7 at Hot Springs."

IN MEMORIAM.

On Saturday, October 26th, 1895, at California, Campbell County, Ky., Mrs. Jennie Hill, wife of Robert S. Hill, died of consumption, in the fifty-fourth year of her age. Mrs. Hill was a model wife and mother. She leaves a husband and eight children, and a sister, Mrs. Kate Swart, of Maysville, Mo., to mourn their loss, and a world of friends made sad by her death. She was a remarkable woman. It mattered not how weary she was in traveling the thorny path of life she always had a smile and a kind word for everybody. With her sunny face, her good heart, her tender feelings, her pleasant manner, her sweet disposition, she won and retained many friends. Her great desire in life was to teach her children to live nobly and be useful men and women. She was loved by all who knew her. It was her joy to do all she could to elevate the morals of the public, and above all other things she loved the shining light of truth. She was a faithful member of the Presbyterian Church. With great fortitude she bore her protracted illness without a murmur. And as night kisses down the rose to sleep, when death whispered come, with that same sweet smile, she obeyed and passed on through the gates of death into a new and better life. That low hollow cough is hushed, the hectic flush forever pale, in the icy arms of death. Good-bye, wife, mother, sister and friend. Her love and kindness will live on and steal through our hearts like a rich perfume to bless, cheer and comfort the living. A FRIEND.
